ALEX: Don't you guys think you're a little too old to be playing make-believe?

ATHENA: Make-believe?

SEKHMET: Meow!?

THOR: What do you mean human?

ALEX: Wow, you are really committed to this whole, what? "Mythology act"!?

ATHENA: gasps

SEKHMET: hisses

THOR: This is proof!!! Human kind has completely abandoned the way of the Gods.

There is no more room for debate! The time has come to bring things back to how they were meant to be!

ATHENA: I knew that the mortals had gone astray from the gods, but to not recognize us in their very presence is... shocking!

ALEX: Jeez! I didn't mean to offend-

THOR: You truly do not recognize Gods when they stand right before you!?

ALEX: Well I-

THOR: WITNESS THE TRUTH OF OUR POWER!

Thor raises hammer light flicker effect and thunder noises (if possible) commence

ALEX: OH. MY. GOD!....s?

ATHENA: This must be a lot to take in. But yes the old gods are still very much real.

I am Athena, Greek goddess of Knowledge, please to meet you!

And this is Thor, Norse god of thunder.

THOR: Grumbles

ATHENA: And this is Sekhmet, Egyptian lion goddess.

SEHKMET: Meow!

ATHENA: Sorry, Sekhmet hasn't been doing so well since her sacred animal went on the endangered species list.

SEKHMET: sorrowful Meeeeooooooooow!

Athena pats Sekhmet's shoulder

ATHENA: There, there dear, it's alright.

ALEX: But what are Gods doing in a coffee shop!? The coffee here isn't even that great!

THOR: The owner is an old friend of ours.

ALEX: You- you aren't saying that Mr. Ortiz is actually a... a... a...

ATHENA: God?

SEKHMET: Meow!

Athena pats Sekhmet

ATHENA: No you don't have to worry. Mr Ortiz is quite mortal. He's just a good friend

ALEX: relieved O.K....
